Promoting Quality Higher Education – An Investment in Oregon's Future

Faculty Confidence Shaking in PSU Leadership

Three-quarters of PSU faculty responding to an on-line survey conducted by the PSU-AAUP this last week indicated that they “somewhat disagree or completely disagree” that “PSU Administrators have a good feel for our mission, understanding of conditions at PSU and are taking us in a positive direction.”

Comparable numbers

- * Disagree that they are “well supported by PSU to do a good job for PSU, to develop professionally and to be competitive for a comparable or better position elsewhere.”
- * Disagree that “PSU Administrators are visible, effective advocates for PSU and public higher education in Oregon.”

Other evidence of the depth of concern was the very high response rate – 42% of the 950 people contacted responded to the survey – full results attached.

PSU Administrators are calling for a large cut next year, of 8% in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences alone. In meetings across campus, Administrators are calling for a cut of $15m in '13/ '14, though OUS Board materials showed PSU had a healthy reserve as of June '13.

PSU needs to prioritize academics! Our students are racking up debt to pay for a top-heavy administration, poor real estate investments and other auxiliary activities. If we really need cuts, there are a lot of ways to cut $15m from a budget of $550m. Let's start with the $5m addition to administrative salaries over the last biennium.
